On 25 March, 2010, the Minister of Health visited the Polo Surgical Hospital, Borgo Trento in Verona which has been constructed by Bonatti
The presence of Ferruccio Fazio, accompanied by leading authorities from the Veneto Region, emphasises that Italian health excellence is recognised abroad.

The new Hospital Maggiore di Borgo Trento is recognised world-wide as a prototype to study. The construction is being carried out by Bonatti in collaboration with architects Altieri.

This impressive project commenced in November 2004. The floor area is over 96,000 sq.m. It has 33 operating rooms and 94 intensive care units. The high-tech equipment for the hospital occupies 8,000 sq.m. For the engineering and installation of the electrical plant, Bonatti were supported by Carlo Gavazzi, a Bonatti Group company, who installed 800 km of power cables and 1,200 km of instrument cables.

Bonatti have had previous experience of this type of construction having been responsible for the enlargement and restructuring of Bressanone hospital, construction of the City Hospital of Avellino and the Recovery Hall of San Martino Hospital in Genoa.

During the execution of the Polo Surgical Hospital, the normal activities of the surgical teams continued uninterrupted due to the provision of temporary facilities by Bonatti.

Due to the experience gained in Verona, it is possible to export the concept of a model Italian hospital. This will enable developing countries to follow the Italian example for the benefit of the life expectancy of their populations.

In the world we know that health is Italian, with French, an example of efficiency and attention to ensuring the highest life expectancy for the population.

A level that developing countries want to get into a growth and development begins to find the theme of health a key plank.

The Bonatti Group is oriented to the global market. 80% of its turnover is generated abroad, located in ten developing countries.

Bonatti is participating in hospital tenders in Libya, Iraqi Kurdistan, Algeria and Dubai. Bonatti is also participating in the tender for the Jahili Paediatric Hospital, designed by Studio Altieri, the developer of the Hospital of Verona

Borgo Trento Hospital is an expression of Italian excellence in the field of health design and has been visited by leading Middle Eastern operators.

The expression of Italian is also manifested in these ways.
